

So they 'Ummed' and they 'Aaaahed' and they pondered a bit and they drank lots of tea, in between... 'til they came to the sorry conclusion that this was the worst case that they'd ever seen!

"We could just cut it off!" said an eager young nurse (who was obviously terribly new...)

"I was thinking of that," (said the doctor, abrupt)

"but I fear that the head may come too!"

Then Dad said "I've an idea that may work..."

...let's fill up the saucepan with LARD!!!

If it's warm when we pour, it will fill ev'ry gap... we can pull when it sets, nice and hard..."

"But – what if I drown?..."

(poor Ollie complained)

"...in a bucket of animal fat?..."

I am no vegetarian, as you well know...

... but – there's better ideas

...than that!"

